Carol/Ken,

For now, below is a link to the ECHA database containing robust summaries of the studies we would be considering and for discussion with North Carolina tomorrow. If you could provide to NC, that may be helpful to get everyone started.

We are still gathering the full study reports internally and will have to make a clear determination regarding their CBI status before sharing; i.e., whether it can be done quickly or via process.

Toxicology information are summarized in the dossier for CAS Number 62037-80-3, which can be viewed at the following link: <https://echa.europa.eu/registration-dossier/-/registered-dossier/2679/1> The toxicological summary and individual study summaries are available under: "Toxicological Information." Within the "Toxicological Information" section, there are various subsections for different types of studies as well as a "Toxicological Summary." Below is a listing of repeated dose oral toxicity studies, carcinogenicity, and reproductive / developmental toxicity studies which are summarized in the dossier:

Listing of Repeated dose oral toxicity studies:

Combined chronic toxicity/carcinogenicity study
Repeated dose 90-day oral toxicity study in rats
Repeated dose 90-day oral toxicity study in mice
Repeated dose 28-day oral toxicity study in rats
Repeated dose 28-day oral toxicity study in mice
7-day oral toxicity study in rat
7-day oral toxicity study in mice

Carcinogenicity:

Combined chronic toxicity/carcinogenicity study (also listed above under Repeated dose oral toxicity studies)

Toxicity to Reproduction:

Reproduction/developmental toxicity screening test in mice
Prenatal developmental toxicity study in rats

Can you please make a list of the studies...and just provide link to ECHA database where the Robust Summaries are. We will tell them we are looking further to find the full studies
